

TAMBOUR BATTANT

« THERE'S MORE TO A FOREST THAN MEETS THE EYE »

On Friday, 13 March 2020 at 9 pm, the Tambour Battant show was broadcast on DemainTV, channel 31 of France's TNT bundle, focusing on "There's more to a forest than meets the eye".

Tambour Battant is presented by Antoine Spire and Patrick Tudoret. It deals with social, philosophical, scientific, historical, literary and artistic issues.

This time, it was forests.

Financed by Société Forestière Groupama, the purpose of the show was to put the spotlight on French forests and their role as explained by various stakeholders, namely:

Martine Chalvet: a lecturer at the University of Aix-Marseille and a specialist of the history of the environment, forests and landscapes.

Pascal Viné: a water and forestry engineer, Director of Institutional Relations and Mutualist Orientations at Groupama Assurances Mutuelles, former Director of French forestry agency ONF (2010-2015).

Laurent Piermont: an agricultural engineer and Doctor of Ecology, Chairman of the Scientific Council of Groupama Forêts Assurances, former Director of the Forestry branch of public investment company Caisse des Dépôts et Consignations and Founder of CDC Biodiversité.

Groupama Immobilier's CEO Eric Donnet also participated in the discussions, sharing in particular his perspective on wood's use as a construction material.
